

firestorm friday

Friday, August 22 . . .

At 6:00 p.m. we put the September issue of Okanagan Life to bed. Two hours later we're shouting "stop the presses!"

Gusting winds have suddenly whipped the Okanagan Mountain Park Fire into a frenzy. Flames leap hundreds of feet into the night sky, advancing on Kelowna like a legion of demons released from hell.

Within hours the firestorm will change the face of our city – and show us what community really means.

Photos by Bruce Kemp and Laurie Carter

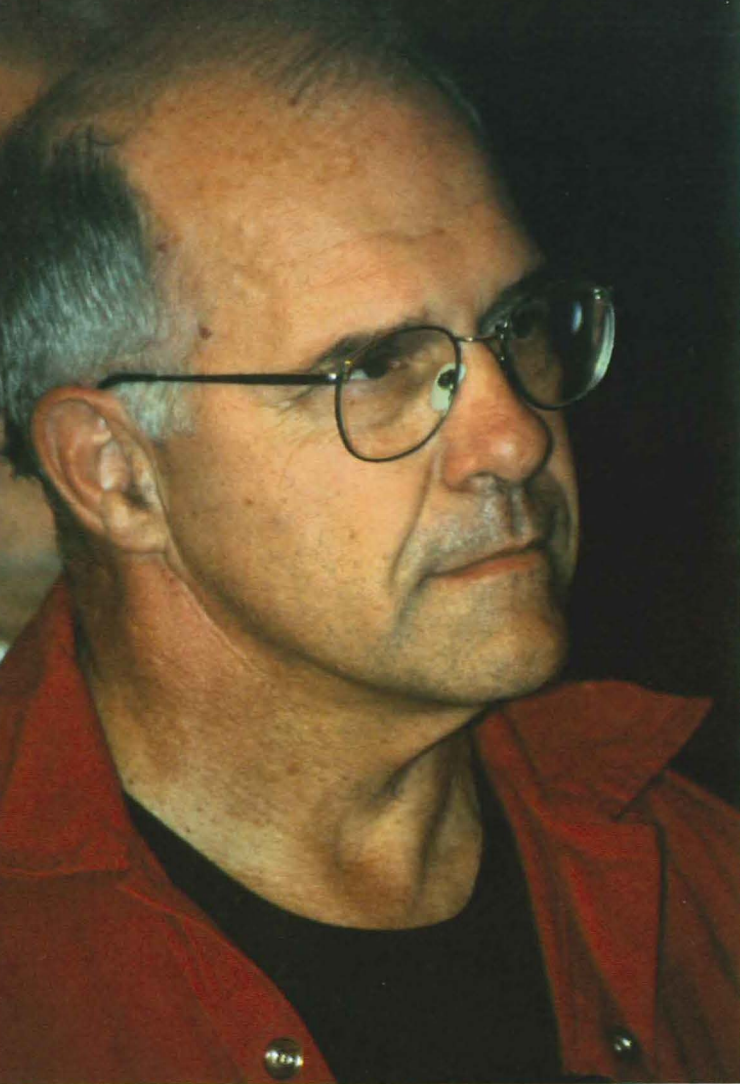

THANK U
Fire Fighters

