HOCKEY GREATS FANTASY CAMP

Kelowna was the site of an exceptional hockey camp last August that brought together many of the game's greats and a whole bunch of recreational players (affectionately called hockey mutts) for an amazing holiday. The Hockey Greats Fantasy Camp is hosted by Kelowna's own Bob Bourne who enjoyed a very successful NHL career and was a key contributor to the New York Islanders four consecutive Stanley Cup wins in the early 1980s. Through relationships formed during his NHL career and beyond, Bob was able to bring top stars to the Okanagan. Puck legends like Bryan Trottier, Clark Gillies, Billy Smith, Dale Hawerchuk, Cliff Ronning, Steve Shutt, Dave Semenko, Larry Melnyk, Ron Flockhart and Doug Bodger (who count 28 Stanley Cup rings between them) skated with mutts from all over Canada. From rink, to golf course, to houseboat, the camp proved to be the hockey experience of a lifetime. Wives and significant others enjoyed wine tours, complete with limo and driver. Houseboating was a big hit as players launched themselves from the upper decks into Okanagan Lake and the Okanagan Golf Club hosted the group for 18 holes on the Bear course. Michael Burgess, the Canadian tenor that portrayed Jean Valjean in the Toronto production of Les Misérables has played in the Hockey Greats league for years now and as one of the biggest bonus treats, he sang at all the major events. Impromptu jam sessions and sing-a-longs with all the players rounded out a near perfect four-day extravaganza that can only be described the way it was named—a fantasy for any hockey fan, player or mutt. Bob's partner, Dave Duncan has played a major role in the success of this camp and the 2010 roster (so rumour has it) will feature Larry Robinson and Theoren Fleury.—John Paul Byrne
